“CMS allows multiple users to securely edit and update content online.”

In a move to support local businesses, Morley Senior High School came to Indepth Design and Interactive when they wanted a new and improved website.

In order to appeal to an International audience of prospective students, as well as showcase the impressive performances of current students, Morley SHS were looking to replace their student designed website with a crisp and clean professional image. With a flash presentation on the home page designed to highlight their school's culture and motto of “together we achieve”, the sleek new website has a broad appeal across the local and international community.

Indepth Creative created an Enterprise Content Management System (CMS) website for the school, which allows multiple users to edit and update content online. An in-school administrator approves all changes, ensuring the security and synchronicity of the site.

The management of the website is now in the hands of Morley SHS staff, with the CMS allowing them to easily make and monitor changes without needing to know any tricky web codes. An online calendar is regularly updated to keep staff, students and the community up-to-date on events, a gallery highlights the school's recent activities, and an online newsletter service simplifies the distribution of news to staff and students.

The finished product is a sophisticated and goal orientated website, which has delivered Morley SHS's culture of achievement to a whole new audience.
